ESTEY'S CELEBRATED

COTTAGE, HARMONIC AND BOUDOIR

ORGANS AND MELODEONS

These Instruments stand unrivalled by an impression in this country or in Europe, has submitted to a fair impartial judge. The most eminent Piano-gran Builders and Performers, the first to discover excellence in Free Reed Tone, pronounced them unanimously superior to all others for exceedingly quick articulation and round Tone, the essential feature in instruments of this class. We invite the most severe scrutiny and criticism of all.

PATENT VOX HUMANA TREMOLO

This late and most wonderful invention has acknowledged by all leading artists to be the finest only in the Estey Instruments. Instruments, besides the effect of this stop, we will allow for taking the same back for exchange within the time and the board to be specified. By this we confidently invite comparison with other instruments which require a little time of practice for an artist upon a violin to fully bring out the effects. We claim the best Reed Organ made, combining the most æsthetic sweetness of the human voice in a pipe organ with fullness and purity that it never before possessed, and that it never will be excelled in the future.

THE HARMONIC ORGAN

for churches Public Halls and Parlors has a powerful sub Bass with independent pedals, the former at command and with Thomas's Tremolo and is believed to be the most powerful reed organ made for ordinary uses of a Pipe Organ of 2 ms. Price this cost.

All instruments warranted five years.

BRASS BANDS supplied with instruments and materials at lowest rates.

A liberal discount allowed to Churches and to the Schools.

Testimonials can be had in Vocal and Instrumental Music at our rooms and at public houses refer to Industrials or classes on Estey's in Pictures.

SPECTACLES.

I have been appointed Sole Agent for Adams county for the sale of Myers' CAZA LENS & MORRIS' CELEBRATED SPECTACLES. These Spectacles have received eighty (80) premiums and testimonials from persons who have been in the habit of using them, during the past twenty years. They are recommended by any for their strengthening and preserving qualities and will last many years with the greatest care. Owing to their peculiar construction and the quality of glasses used in their manufacture, the eyes are assisted to perform a much greater distance than can be done by ordinary glasses without inflicting injury. Call and examine before purchasing, as I am determined to sell them at reasonable prices. We guarantee satisfaction in every instance.

Baltimore Lock Hospital.

DR JOHNSTON,

Physician and Surgeon of this celebrated Institution has fifteen years experience in the treatment of Diseases of the Sexual System, and can be consulted at all times, personally or by letter, at the Hospital, No. 7 Lexington street, Baltimore, Md.

DISEASES OF THE KIDNEYS,

Which are frequently the result of Bladder Complaints, Affections of the Kidneys or Urinary Involuntary Discharges, Gravel, Calculi or Stone in the Bladder, Retention, Inability to Pass Water, Pain in the Back, Loins or Side, Dropsical Swellings, Diseases of the Skin, Blotches, Pimples, Ulcers, Sore Throat, Mouth or Tongue, Nervousness, Despondency, Dimness of Sight or Giddiness, Dizziness on Rising Suddenly from a Recumbent Posture, Palpitation of the Heart, Indigestion, Constipation, Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, and Diseases arising from Indiscretion or Exposure, Habits of Dissipation, Solitude, Evil Practices, or Excesses, Impediments to Marriage, Nervousness, Debility, and Organic Weakness, Diseases of the Bladder, Kidneys, Skin, Blood and Urinary Organs, Scrofula, Rheumatism, Mercurial Disease, Piles, Fistula, Stricture, Ulcers, Tumors, Cancers, Tetter, Erysipelas, Female Complaints, Gravel, Dropsy, Gout, Neuralgia, Consumption &c.

YOUNG MEN

Who have fallen victims to those solitary habits which destroy both mind and body, should apply immediately, and secure that health which once enjoyed, can be restored to them. Many young men who have become the victims of Solitary Vice, destroying the most splendid temporal prospects, and depriving themselves of the pleasures of a happy union, may call with the most perfect confidence, and be restored to perfect health.

YOUNG MEN

Who have injured themselves by a certain practice indulged in when alone, a habit frequently learned from evil companions or at school, the effects of which are nightly felt, even when asleep, and if not cured renders marriage impossible, and destroys both mind and body, should apply immediately.

What a pity that a young man, the hope of his parents, the darling of his sister, and the pride of all who know him, should be snatched from all the prospects and pleasures of life by the consequences of deviating from the path of nature and indulging in a certain secret habit. Such persons must before reflecting on the consequences of their conduct, that a sound mind and body are the most necessary requisites to enjoy happiness. The fearful consequences of the above habit are even more than death. They destroy the mind, weaken the body, create a dislike for society, blast the prospects, and render miserable the journey through life. Before contracting marriage, therefore, reflect upon the consequences of your conduct. Those who have committed this error, and are conscious of its effects upon the mind and body, are hereby informed that the misery may be entirely removed, and full restoration to health and vigor guaranteed.

MARRIED

Middle aged men, and young men who are about entering the married state, should be aware of physical weakness, and should immediately consult the Doctor, or a pernicious disease may be entailed upon their children, which will prove a curse instead of a blessing. Take this fact into consideration, that a splendid constitution may be ruined by entering the married state with a body poisoned by the effects of a certain class of diseases. Many persons who have been cured by Dr. Johnston have placed the most implicit confidence in his honor as a gentleman, and his skill as a physician, and submitted their cases to his management, without the least fear of exposure or injury to their feelings.

DISEASES OF IMPUDENCE

With pride, self-esteem, impudence, and a shyness of the world, should be avoided, especially by those afflicted with Diseases of the Blood. Those who have become the victims of this class of diseases, through ignorance, indiscretion or bad company, should not fail to consult the Doctor immediately. Many persons who are suffering from the effects of Mercury, Contagious Blood Poison, Ulcers in the Throat, Mouth, Skin or Limbs, Blotches, Pimples on the Face, Copper Colored Spots, Rheumatism, Pains in the Head, Bones, Joints or Limbs, Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Stricture, Seminal Weakness, Nocturnal Emissions, Sexual Debility, Nervousness, Dizziness, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Lack of Confidence, Dread of Society, Self-Distrust, Love of Solitude, Timidity, Trembling, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Bad Breath, Wasting of the Muscles, Hideous Appearance of the Eyes, Pimples on the Face, Premature Old Age, and many other evils, are destroyed forever by the use of the Great Remedy, Dr. Johnston's Specific Mixture.

Dr. Johnston has discovered the source of more than one-half the miseries of mankind. The patient suffering from any of the above diseases should not delay a moment in calling for relief.

Dr. Johnston's Specific Mixture is the only known remedy in existence that will cure Diseases of the Blood without the use of Mercury.

Dr. Johnston's Specific Mixture will cure in a few days Strictures of long standing.

Dr. Johnston's Specific Mixture will cure the worst case of Seminal Weakness in from one to three weeks.

Dr. Johnston's Specific Mixture will cure the most obstinate case of Nervousness, Debility, Dizziness, Sick Headache, Loss of Memory, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, Pains in the Back, Dimness of Sight, Premature Old Age, Nocturnal Emissions, Involuntary Discharges, Evil Forebodings, Aversion to Society, Timidity, Trembling, Diffidence, Dyspepsia, Want of Confidence, Lack of Energy, Hesitancy, Love of Solitude, Blotches on the Face, Pimples, Ulcers in the Throat, Mouth, Head, Bones, Joints and Limbs, Syphilis, Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Stricture, Impotency, Sterility, Mercurial Disease, Involuntary Emissions in Sleep, Sexual Incapacity, Wasting of the Muscles, Decay and Loss of the Organs of Generation, Pain in the Back, Dimness of Sight, Premature Old Age, Baldness, Rheumatism, Aversion to Society, Self-Distrust, Love of Solitude, Timidity, Trembling, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Dyspepsia, Bad Breath, Lack of Confidence, Blotches on the Face, Pimples, Ulcers in the Throat, Mouth, Head, Skin, Bones, Joints and Limbs, Diseases of a Private Nature, no matter from what cause originating, and no matter who has failed to cure you, call on Dr. Johnston, and be cured. Don't be deceived by the many Quacks who are flooding the country with worthless nostrums, destroying the constitution of their victims, and filling our Lunatic Asylums and Graveyards.

Dr. Johnston has been longer engaged in the treatment of Private Diseases than any Physician in Baltimore, and has the most undoubted testimonials of his wonderful cures. Persons at a distance can be cured at home by addressing Dr. Johnston. Medicines sent to any part of the country. Charges moderate. Call and consult the Doctor, or send your address.

TWO PICTURES

An old farm house with moss was weed,
And sweet with clover on each side,
A bright eyed boy who look'd from out
His door with a alkome weathed shout,
And wished for one thought all the day,
Oh! that I could but fly away
From the dull spot the world to see,
How happy I should be.

A mill with a constant clang,
Where who round the clock has been
Who, and the tumult in the thong
Is thinking that up all the day
Oh! I could only feed on music
Like that I hear in the corn room,
That still, green meadow could I see,
How happy I should be!

With pigs, happy, happy be
How happy I should be!

GENERAL LEE CONVULSED.

An old lady who knew General R. L. Lee almost from childhood declared that when he was a young man he conceived him and enjoyed and indulged in harmless tricks as much as anybody. I do not like, and then his sons became staid lads as is said that he was found or sleeping with them in order that he might in the morning engage in a game of old-fashioned romp and pillow-fight with the boys. During the war though he naturally grave as befitted a commander and soldier, he relished an occasional joke very highly. When some of his staff mistook a jug of buttermilk that had been put him for "good old apple jack," it made way for a stamping it down in the and attempt to conceal his mistake. So too, when imparting into the nature of the new game, chuck-a-luck, I think they call it" which had been introduced into his army that showed how shrewdly he guessed its real purport as a gambling game. So, again, it is reported that he appreciated fully the joke which a wag on the Cuff pahned off upon a reporter were promptly recorded in the paper. The reporter wished to know from the lips of the hero of the following

Six o'clock, eighth day of May
Ugly fight
Under them that is rather cold
Tired me.

Deadly fatigued in fact, I'm sure, after a ghastly military dinner?

Well you see General Lee sits at the head of the table and I and Chamberlain at the foot, and everything is done in military style."

Red tape at table! I don't understand you. Please explain?

Certainly. General Lee never carves and never helps—all that is left to Col. Chamberlain and General Lee asks the guests what they will have, they tell him, he then instructs orders, and Col. Chamberlain executes them. That's all.

"You go on!" cried the reporter, note-book, "give me an example. Tell me exactly how it is done."

Suppose, then, that we have beef—we generally have beef. Grace is said by the chaplain, then General Lee says to me, "Chamberlain, the head of his knife and says, 'Attention!' Everybody pauses. Every eye is turned toward General Lee. He looks at one of us—me, for example and I rise and make a military salute. "Captain C——, what will you be helped too?" says General Lee. I say "Beef," make another salute, and sit down. General Lee hands me over Colonel Chamberlain's head, and I call out in a voice to be heard by the entire company, "Beef for Captain C——!" My plate is passed helped and then Colonel Chamberlain handing it to the servant, says

Beef for Captain C——,
By order of General Lee
R. E. Chamberlain A. A. G."

And this absurd story went the round of the Southern papers.

After the war, General Lee rarely smiled, and rarely, never laughed outright. Yet he was neither sad nor miserable. But there was that about him which made it well nigh impossible to believe that he could ever have given completely away to feelings of mirth and indulged in a real fit of cachinnation. Such, however, was the fact, and it occurred at a time when, of all others, one would have least expected it—in the retreat to Appomattox and General Henry A. Wise was the occasion of it.

On the second or third day of the retreat, General Wise, who had long desired an interview with General Lee, discovered him at a distance, and immediately hastened to wait on him. While he was yet a great way off General Lee, who happened at the time to be alone, turned and began to state in a way that was most unusual with him. As Wise drew nearer the state became intense and mixed with wonderment. A few steps more, and still General Lee gazed and gazed wonderingly, as if he had never seen Wise in his life. Amazed and puzzled at General Lee's unmistakable ignorance of his identity, Wise advanced quite close to him and said rather stiffly, "Good morning, General Lee"! It was very early and very cool, too—a sharp spring morning.

As he said this, General Lee's intense gaze relaxed, a smile appeared in its place, the smile deepened, broadened, and, sparkling from feature to feature, ended at last in a fit of the most immoderate and uncontrollable laughter.

Astounded beyond words, and indignant beyond measure at such a reception, it was some time before General Wise could demand an explanation. During all this time General Lee laughed as a mature man rarely ever laughs.

The explanation, given through tears of laughter not yet ended, was simple enough. General Lee had mistaken the General for a Comanche Indian. He had lost his hat or cap, a dirty blanket was thrown over his shoulders to protect him from the keen morning air, and his face, washed in a mud puddle and hastily wiped, retained a ring of red mud around the borders, which made the resemblance to an Indian as exact as well could be—all the more so in consequence of Wise's strong features.

Barely sufficient at the time (so incensed was Wise,) the explanation eventually proved ample, for General Wise now laughs at this incident as heartily as any one, and often relates it himself, while it may well be doubted whether ever again in life General Lee found either the occasion or the disposition to relax his wonted gravity.—From One monthly Gossip, in the March number of Lippincott's Magazine

MY WIFE'S BRIDAL TOUR

THE BEST WAY TO MANAGE A WIFE.—ADVICE TO YOUNG MEN.—When I married my second wife, she was dread fully set about going off on a bridal tour. I told her she had better wait six months or a year and I'd go with her, and she said she had rather go alone—when a woman is having a man is in out-and-out humbug. So I gave her seventy-five cents, and told her to go and have a good time. I never begrudge money when my wife's happiness is concerned. My first wife never could complain of not going anywhere, for I am in debt in favor to go off on a good time myself. I don't pretend to say how many times I took her out to see the sights and the times was no end to the free lectures I let her go to. The neighbors used to say, "I declare if how the Skinners do go!"

When the circus was in Skunkville, the manager gave me wife a complimentary ticket. I not only sold the ticket for my wife but gave her half the money. I don't favor it, but only mention it to show how much I thought of her happiness.

I don't think my mom should go from and until he can consider his wife's happiness only second to her own. John Wise, a neighbor of mine, died the day, and when I got married I concluded to do likewise.

But the plan didn't work in the case of my second wife. No! I should say not! I married the subject I really.

"Matilda," said I, "I suppose you are aware that I am now your lord and master for?"

"Not much you aren't," said she.

Mrs Skinner said I, you are fearfully disorganized. Your me crank."

And I thunderbolted my new sixty cent umbrella wildly around her.

She took the umbrella away from me and locked me up in the clothes press.

I am quick to draw mankind case. I drew home that I was not a success in management of female women.

After that I changed my tactics. I didn't leave her down with, and the plan from the most worthless fellow in the world I'm the best wife in existence. I found out before she had been in the house twenty four hours that she had gained strength also I don't say how I found out.

In conclusion, I would say to all young men, marry your second wife first, and keep out of debt by all means. If you have to borrow the money to do it.

THE STOREKEEPER'S REVENGE

A HUMOROUS INCIDENT.

One winter I owned a country storekeeper in Du Green Mountain State, was about closing up for the night, and while standing in the snow outside putting up the window shutters, saw through the glass a lounging, worthless fellow sitting up front of a fresh barrel from the shelf, and conceal it in his hat.

The act was no sooner detected than the revenge was up upon, and a very few minutes found the Green Mountain storekeeper at once indulging his appetite for fun to the full extent, and paying on the thief with a forcible out of fortune, for which he would have gained a premium from the city of Lynn.

"Say, Seth," said the storekeeper coming in and closing the door after him, slapping his hard sour fist on his shoulders and stamping his sweet breath, "you had his hand on the door, his hat on his head, and a roll of butter in his hat answers to make his exit as soon as possible.

"I say, Seth, sit down a bit for a now, you such a cold night as this, a little something warm would not hurt a fellow.

Seth felt very much like he had the butter, and was accordingly most anxious to get out of the range of some thing warm with which to wash it down, but he was afraid to refuse to go to drink. Talking away as if nothing was the matter, the fun loving grocer kept pushing wood into the stove, while poor Seth sat upright with his back against the counter and his knees almost touching the red-hot furnace before him.

"Cold night this," said the grocer—"Why, Seth, you seem to perspire as if you were warm. Why don't you take off your hat? Here let me—I can hit away."

"No, exclaimed poor Seth, at last. No, I must go, let me out I can't—well, let me go."

A great deal of water was pouring down the poor man's face and neck and soaking into his clothes, and trickling down his body into his boots, so that he was literally in a perfect bath of oil.

"Well, good night, Seth," said the humorous Yankee, "if you must go," and added as he dusted out of the door "I say, Seth, I reckon the last I have had out of you is worth one pence, so I shan't charge you for the pound of butter in your hat."

LAKE MICHIGAN TROPS OVER.

The Milwaukee Wisconsin of Monday week has the following. "The propeller City of Belmont left for Grand Haven on for the third time last night, but was compelled to return after having reached the ice bell a distance of only fourteen miles. During the high westerly winds of last week the ice was moved at any time out of sight of land. At this point since the ice has consisted by been added to, so that now it once more lifts this day. In view of all the facts that can be ascertained we have no hesitation in saying that Lake Michigan, at this point, where its width is eighty-five miles, is now entirely bridged over with ice, varying in thickness from one to twelve feet. Never before within the memory of the oldest living inhabitant has this been known to occur."

"What do you call that?" indignantly asked a customer at a cheap restaurant, pointing at an object that he had discovered in his plate of hash. "Wristband with sleeve buttons attached, sir," said the waiter briskly. "Well, I do you consider that a proper thing for a man to find in his hash?" asked the customer in wrath. "Good heavens, sir?" cried the waiter, "would you expect to find a ten dollar silk umbrella in a fifteen cent plate of hash?"

In the State Senate on Monday, Mr Wilmot rose in place an act to repeal the State tax on horses, cattle, mules, occupations, trades and professions

To the Harrisburg State Journal's boast of the election of a Republican in favor of Reading, the Pottsville Miners' Journal replies by putting this question "Did Reading Republicanism vote the whiskey murder to elect their candidate?"

LATEST news from Spain is not encouraging It is currently manifest that the greatest anxiety prevails among all the reliable citizens on account of the threatening aspect of affairs and the general feeling is one of distrust and insecurity

THE Lancaster Intelligencer is the title of a Democratic daily just started at Pottsville, with Messrs Wm. P. Lines and W. Hayes Grier as editors. It is a sightly and newsy—well gotten up in every respect—and should meet full of good success

GOV. J. S. MOSES has been offered and declined the position of Government counsel in certain legal cases. The "gunflint" has become popular among the "lords" at Washington—a fact which Radical editors will pretend to know nothing about when the next election comes round

MAYOR HAVEMEYER's shock with the New York Custom House faction promises to be followed by a conflict between the Radicals and Governor Dix, a quarrel having origin to do concerning bishop appointments. The Albany Argus hints of red cheese with upon the Governor which is likely to spread

PRESIDENT GRANT had an interview with the committee on privileges and elections at the Capitol, on Monday and some action by Congress on Louisiana matters. He recommended no particular course, but desired to be relieved of the responsibility of personally directing affairs in that State. He evidently thing of the Louisiana difficulty

THE chief subject of discussion in the Constitutional Convention for a week past has been the manner of voting and it now seems probable that the only change that will be made from the present system will be to require the voter to write, or cause his name to be written on the ballot, attested by two witness who shall not be an election officer, also permit him to cast it openly or secretly

WILLIAM TWEED escaped. Wm M. Tweed of New York, at last accounts, was safe, escaped conviction and consequently imprisonment in the penitentiary by the failure of the jury to agree. The Tribune now boldly asserts that this very result was prearranged between Tweed and the Ring and that the support of Grant and the Radical ticket of New York by Tweed and his adherents is thus accounted for

ABOUT 60 Clerks for Justices of the Peace, Judges and Inspectors of Elections, Supervisors, School Directors, Notaries, Constables, and other township and borough officers will be held on Friday (28th) of the coming month. It becomes a duty Democratic friends to make good nominations—and they have excellent material in every district—and they go to work to secure such united hearty and vigorous support as will ensure success

The World refers to the manner in which Democratic press and the local Democratic organizations and the Democratic State Committee and the Democratic State Convention reconciled Tweed and his crime, and stripped off the Democratic livery in which he had been serving the devil, and says

Not so the Republican party. It keeps the Credit Mobilier scoundrels to its bosom. Its press condones their crimes. Its Congress punishes only the exposers of their crimes. For the vendettas it has broken it has built a reputation for the perfidy of its Vice President and of his party.

The Republican party is ruled and it secure the votes of the Third House

A NUMBER of the House of Representatives believe that the resolutions of the Poland Committee recommending the expulsion of Ames and Brooks can secure even a majority of the votes which less one two-thirds is required. Some of the managers of the political parties oppose the opinion that instead a general resolution of censure will be passed affecting all those who were concerned in Credit Mobilier operations. At least twenty members are prepared to speak on the subject. Everybody anticipates exciting proceedings on Tuesday. Such a decision of the latest intelligence from Washington

GEN. COLFAX's explanation fails of course even with his former most trusted friends and political friends. The Bond Conrad controlled by ex-Democratic now Congressman, Hartley of Connecticut one of the staunchest supporters of the dominant party has been making mathematical computations from the data afforded by the Credit Mobilier Investigating Committee concerning these bank deposits to the amount of the deposit, it will be remembered, was $1 968 82. Twenty shares of Credit Mobilier would have entitled Mr. Colfax in 1868 to 160 per cent dividend, or $1,200 and a 10 per cent Dividend on Union Pacific stock which at par would have been $800 Let the value of the stock at that time be 98 and, allowing 2 per cent commission for sale, the net dividend would have been $768 82 Plus with the $1 200 makes $1 968 82 Two pounds results of the problem are admitted by the Conrad Either Mr Colfax is not the man intent to deceive the people or he is the victim of wonderful coincidences"

EVIDENCE IN THE STOKES CASE.—It is stated the counsel of Stoker have ascertained that the woman has been found who picked up the pistol alleged to belong to Fisk upon the landing of the Fisks' entrance to the hotel Her presence at the hotel be verified by the clerks, and her absence from the preceding trials will be satisfactorily explained Other important evidence is said to have been discovered, and it is now believed that a new trial for Stokes will be secured

THE Poland Credit Mobilier Investigating Committee last week closed the taking of testimony and made its report to the House Though reflecting severely upon the bribery and corruption unveiled it lets everybody implicated very tenderly down, except Ames and Brooks, and to make these the more intolerable as scapegoats, recommends their expulsion

The report disappoints the country, and the Philadelphia Ledger echoes the voice of every honest man when it says

There is not a word in that part of the report which exhibits the dishonorable and corrupting nature of the act in taking the stock at all under the circumstances. That does not apply to all those who took it, as well as to Brooks and Ames The difference between them (whatever may exist) is simply one of degree and not of the essence of the act It is deplorable to find that among the six persons to whom these remarks apply four are chairmen of the most important committees of the House Wilson and Means Appropriations, Dawes and Ward Affairs—and the chairman (Golfax) who was the Speaker of the House and is now Vice President of the United States But while these to be deplored the duty of Congress is not the less imperative If it desires to vindicate the American Congress and the national honor it must separate itself utterly from any appearance of sharing in the disgrace, and to do this only by full punishment, so far as the power of individual members of the two Houses is to the Vice President the emphatic censure of the strongest punishment that conduct has invited If they do not they will leave the disgrace upon Congress itself What has been done and of the individual business of members in the Credit Mobilier transactions has been fully exposed to all the world Let Congress do whatever duty any application of whitewash"

THE New Haven Palladium one of the staunchest Republican newspapers published in New England is very tough on Colfax dealing with him in this wise

Mr Colfax explains too often, and every time in a more lame and impotent manner. His most recent story that he sent nothing to the committee about the number of stock he had received from the New York admirer who held a large government contract because the committee had found he did not is a startling subterfuge He had no escape unpleasant, but he should have the decency to assign and leave the country as soon as possible We advise all mothers with daughters named their children after the departed Indian to apply to the next Legislature for an amendment to change the applications of their offspring

No one has a right to allow a child to grow up under the burden of a dishonored name

Even Colfax's staunch defender, the New York Times, felt itself compelled the other day, to say -

It must be conceded that every step of his justification becomes more difficult, from the discovery that no statement yet made by him is consistent with the truth in regard to the transactions covered by it This perpetual necessity to make new discoveries by fresh explanations is startling and explicit answers cannot but be very damaging to the Vice President

TRADE was brisk on the Traverse Jury in Bedford week before last, and here is what the Gazette says about it

Certain legislation in January did more squirming last week than any other when called upon to sit along side of "Brother Fiddler" One Republican framed his back as his colored brother took a seat along side of him Take it, Caudy, Rads this is your own family affair

At another place the same paper makes a point thus

We have not noted, although we have not seen the list that there is a negro on the Grand Jury for the next April court The question now is, will he be the foreman of the Grand Jury? The United States laws forbid any distinction on account of color We pass this fellow by and select a white man for foreman of the Grand Jury would this be a distinction on account of color

THOSE who know George T. Nesbitt on his lifetime might wonder why he showed such unwonted liberality to Schuyler Colfax, "an almost total stranger" if it were not for the fact that in June, 1865, Congress increased the appropriation for postage stamps and stamped envelopes from $275 000 to $1 000 000 As Mr Nesbitt's firm were the contractors for printing one or both of the articles, cloud of light is let in upon his motives

THE Woodstock (Vt) Post has the following Out in Hoosierdom, where they are a good deal better acquainted with Mr Colfax than with the French language, there is a current distich of this sort

The South Bend sinful
Got some Credit Mobilier
They might add
Which the same it had to Schuyler

THE report of the Poland committee may be summarized somewhat as follows Whereas, No members of Congress were bribed by shares of Credit Mobilier stock therefore, Resolved, That Ames be expelled for bribing them – Chicago Times.

CONGRESS, says the Boston Post, thinks of suppressing memorandum books under the old strong libel law

TIRING LAND

We heard it said the other day, on exhibitor's ground, on the subject of land lying out this season in a perturbable condition

The excessive supply of water in the shape of land grass at once, to subdue but repeated applications, admit of explanation by the known fact that dry, cold crops were unfavorable conditions for chemical action and that a dry time will have a great effect in turning over other ones, though of equal amount. Unusual heat applied to muddy lands, the sediment fully with the exception of our Adams county farmers only. Most of whom have limed and hoed it, is manifested results. A score of years ago one hundred bushels to the acre was the general rule. Now twice as much is a common application.

He took quoted was printed a thousand years ago. He is the current of events, no science command or we need the lessons of bygone days advanced in the above extracts. An answer from some one who has given the subject attention would be very acceptable to us as well as the many agriculturists to whom he is unknown.

CULTIVATION OF SWEET POTATOES

Cultivation. The value of a potato crop in most countries can hardly be over estimated and the enterprise interested in the cultivation of the best varieties excellent is well spent and money well invested. We have understood the cultivation of the sweet potato to be one of the most difficult of the Irish Roses, probably attributable to the manner of planting and the subsequent treatment of the vines. Many farmers plant their potatoes in hills, and the ground is left in a condition favorable to the growth of the vines, which run over the ground in all directions, and take root at every joint. The tendency of the roots is to run deep into the ground, and the potatoes are small and of poor quality. The best method of planting is to make ridges, by plowing a furrow each way, and then to plant the potatoes in the ridges, about a foot apart. The vines will not run over the ground, but will grow upright, and the potatoes will be large and of fine quality. The ridges should be made early in the season, and the potatoes planted as soon as the ground is warm enough. The potatoes should be kept clean by hoeing and cultivating, and the ridges should be kept high by plowing a furrow each way between the rows. The potatoes should be dug as soon as the vines begin to die, and before the frost comes. They should be stored in a dry, cool place, and kept from the frost. The potatoes should be sorted over before they are used, and the small ones fed to the stock. The potatoes should be cooked in a way that will preserve their flavor and nutritive qualities. The potatoes should be boiled in water that is not too hot, and the potatoes should be stirred occasionally to prevent them from sticking to the bottom of the pot. The potatoes should be served hot, and not allowed to stand long after they are cooked, as they will lose their flavor and nutritive qualities. The potatoes should be served with a little butter and salt, and a little pepper if desired. The potatoes should be served with a little butter and salt, and a little pepper if desired. WHEN TO APPLY FERTILIZERS

Prof Voelcker of the English Agricultural Society, a paper as follows on the subject:

A remarkable point in the effect of seed was carried out in the late warm summer and autumn. I sowed on the same day, and in the same manner, two plots of ground with Italian rye grass, and the one plot was manured with 3 cwt. of superphosphate of lime per acre, and the other was left unmanured. The manured plot was ready for cutting a month before the unmanured plot, and the produce was more than double in quantity. The manured plot was also much richer in nitrogen than the unmanured plot.
